

THE NECESSITY

For Properly Selected and Compensated City and County Health Officers

By J. N. McCormack, Bowling Green, Kentucky.

During the past year, as has been done biennially for several years, the State Board of Health sent a circular letter to each of the 3,605 physicians making inquiry of the number of cases of sickness and deaths occurring in their practice during the previous twelve months from eight of the leading preventable diseases. The replies are not so full and accurate as will be available in the future under the model vital statistics law, but a comparison with similar figures collected for other years enable us to make them the basis of estimates of such value that every fiscal court and city council in the State should have the benefit of the information.

USELESS WASTE OF HEALTH AND LIFE FOR AN AVERAGE YEAR.

These returns indicate that for this particular year, which proved to be an average one, there were 13,436 cases of tuberculosis under treatment, with 6,541 deaths; 18,387 cases and 1,818 deaths from typhoid fever; 10,981 cases and 2,336 deaths from diphtheria; 18,240 cases and 1,542 deaths from the diarrhoeal diseases of infancy and childhood; 19,024 cases and 840 deaths from dysentery and diarrhoea in adults; 1,800 cases and 160 deaths from scarlet fever; 31,000 cases of gonorrhoea and 16,250 cases of syphilis. This gives a total of 129,717 cases and 13,337 deaths in one year, and which is believed to be fairly typical of what is occurring every year from these eight practically preventable forms of sickness. Diseases ought to be important to a family, state or nation exactly in proportion as they cause sickness and deaths and cost money, but this is recognized by few of our people. One case of cholera, yellow fever, bubonic plague, leprosy or other foreign pestilence would cause a panic in any town or county. A small fraction of these 13,337 deaths in a mine disaster or railroad disaster would cause a thrill of horror in the nation, but this daily tragedy from sickness and deaths from easily preventable diseases, so common that they are not feared, goes on before the eyes of every community almost without comment.

THE COST OF SICKNESS IN KENTUCKY.

As an economic problem, a phase of sickness seldom thought of by most people, the practical importance of the above facts to our fiscal authorities and people can hardly be overestimated. The estimate of our reporters of an average of $94 for the medical care, drugs, nursing and loss of time for each case of sickness, certainly a very conservative one, places the total yearly tax upon the people of Kentucky for these eight diseases at $12,191,398, nearly double the annual revenue of the State. But the actual loss is far beyond this. It has become the fashion to talk about conservation, limiting the term to farms, forests, water-power, mines, factories and similar resources having recognized money value. As a matter of fact, men, women and children—people—are the greatest resource we have to conserve, and without people in such health and vigor that they can develop, operate and enjoy the farms and other things commonly called wealth, they have little more than an abstract value. Prof. Fisher, of Yale, the world's greatest authority upon the subject, tells us that the value of a human life gradually rises from $90 in the first year, to $4,200 when in full vigor, remains nearly stationary for a long time and then gradually declines until it becomes negative. He places the average value of lives sacrificed by preventable disease in this country at $1,703. Making this the basis of calculation and applying it to the 13,337 deaths from eight of these diseases last year, gives the sum of $22,672,900. Adding this to the $12,191,398 which it costs in various ways to care for those sick of them gives a total loss for the year of $34,864,298. Enormous as these figures may seem at first sight it is believed that they underestimate the money saving which is entirely possible every year if all the people of Kentucky could and would observe the laws of health as now known to the scientific world in their daily lives. This cost of sickness is just as much a tax upon the people as if paid into the county, municipal and state treasuries, but no benefits are returned from it as is the case more or less with other taxes. It was this economic feature of sickness mainly, the useless and senseless drain upon the material resources and vitality of their respective nations, which induced Gladstone, Disraeli, Bismarck and others of like prominence in public affairs abroad to recognize and crystallize into laws and governmental policies the truth that "the care of the public health is the first and highest duty of the statesman." It will be noted that preventable sickness is discussed here purely as a business matter, no consideration being given to the inconvenience, suffering and sorrow it brings into the homes of the people.

FACTS ABOUT THIS CLASS OF SICKNESS WHICH ALL SHOULD KNOW.

None of these diseases ever occur or spread except from the germs or seed from a previous case. The exact method of spreading varies with each disease, but competent physicians understand the conditions and laws under which they multiply and spread fully as much as the best farmers know how weeds spread. They know, for instance, that if all the expectorated matter and other infectious discharges from every case of tuberculosis now in Kentucky could be disinfected or destroyed until all of them either recover or die, or if all the discharges from the bowels and kidneys from every case of typhoid fever could be thoroughly disinfected before the vessels are emptied, our people would be freed from both of these diseases. If the people could be properly instructed the expense of preventing these diseases would be small compared with what it now costs to have them. The history of eight years of smallpox in Kentucky, from 1898 to 1906 is another striking example, to say nothing of the distress, suffering and loss of life, it is estimated that this disease cost our people over a million dollars. This seems strange when it is now well known to the scientific world that vaccination is an absolute preventive of smallpox, and that when properly done it is devoid of danger. Vaccination has long been compulsory in Germany and all comply with the law, with the result that for the last reported year there was but one imported case in their 62,000,000 population. The average cost of a successful vaccination is 40 cents, the average expense of caring for a case of smallpox for a public is $40, and yet in the face of this experience, over 40 per cent. of our people remain unvaccinated, enough in almost every community to spread the disease if a case is brought into it.

NEED FOR

Organized Forest Fire Protection Among Private Owners

One of the lessons which will finally be drawn from the trying experience of the present forest fire season, in the belief of officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is the need of wider organization among private owners of timber to safeguard their holdings.

It is pointed out that already in the Northwest, both on the Pacific Coast and in Montana and Idaho, timberland owners have formed themselves into associations which assess the members on an acreage basis and thus meet the cost of maintaining a regular patrol and fire-fighting organization. Only by getting together can private owners usually assure themselves protection, for fire is no respecter of boundary lines and the man who undertakes to keep it out of his own timber will want it kept out of his neighbor's too. Wherever possible the government's forest officers co-operate with the force put in the field by the associations, so that the employees of the Government and those of the private owners are handled practically as a unit in fighting the common enemy.

This co-operation is advantageous to both sides. Protection of the National Forest necessarily carries with it a good deal of protection of adjoining or interior holdings. If private owners would everywhere shoulder their reasonable share of the burden, the public would gain both through more general forest conservation and through relief from the necessity of paying for the protection of private timber in order to protect its own.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

Should Join in Movement to Boom Barbourville

Our Commercial Club has been inactive for some time, but it seems to us that now while we have the Bowman Realty Co. here selling town lots and building up our city it is the proper time for our Commercial Club to get busy and lend a helping hand in the movement.

There is a hundred things to be discussed at a meeting of the Commercial Club, so let us try to get together.

Suppose we meet at the County Court room on next Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Let every citizen of the town that wants to see Barbourville grow, come out and encourage the movement by your presence anyway. You might offer some suggestion that would be valuable to the Club. So come whether you are a member or not.

SEE DOOM OF PIGTAIL

It is reported from Peking that Prince Tsai Tao, the chief of the Chinese military mission, which has spent two months in visiting the principal European countries, has cut off his pigtail. The news was received with delight at Peking by the officers of the Chinese army, who feel sure that the prince, who is their commander-in-chief, means to give them permission to follow his example.

JAPANESE WOMAN DENTIST.

Mme. Laporte is the name of a Japanese woman who is a dentist in London. She has an exceedingly pretty anteroom, it is said, all in blue, with silver dragons, and she performs her work without hurting the patient in the least, which is the important point in connection with her work.

BEN RICE

Accidentally Killed at His Home Near Artemus

Mr. Ben Rice, one of the best known and highly respected citizens of Knox county, was killed at his home last Friday in a very peculiar manner.

It seems that he had a cellar dug in his barn in which he had for a number of years kept his apples, potatoes, &c. This cellar or pit had a large stone some six or eight feet square over it and the ends rested on wood sills while in the center was a post which supported the weight of the stone.

Mr. Rice was cleaning the cellar preparatory to storing his fruit and vegetables, and concluded to remove the center post and in its stead place one at each of the four corners of the stone, but before he had placed the corner posts he knocked the center post out when the heavy stone fell in on him crushing his skull and killing him instantly.

Mr. Rice was, until recently, the County Road Commissioner of Knox county and was one of the best citizens of our county. His death will be a shock to the entire community.

Rev. W. C. Warren and Miss Allie Brock were quietly married a few weeks ago by Rev. Thos. G. Hammons. Rev. Warren is a leading authority in the Baptist ministry and is liked by all who know him, while the bride is a christian lady of the Baptist church and makes friends with all those she comes in contact with. We wish them a happy and prosperous life.

We are informed that a strong element all over the county is encouraging Thos. G. Hammons to be a candidate for County Judge next term. It seems now that he would carry this end of the county solid.

Miss elsie Hubbard is at Barbourville this week with her mother who is there sick.

PARDON REFUSED

By Gov. Willson to Slayer who will be Tried Fourth Time, in Middlesboro

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 10.—Before leaving for Harvard University Sunday night, Governor Willson refused to pardon Matthew Carroll, of Bell county, who goes on trial Monday for the fourth time for killing Will Begly several years ago, with a chair, in Middlesboro. Begly was about to stab Carroll's cousin when Carroll struck and killed him. Governor Willson says that if Carr was close enough to hit Begly with a chair he should have caught his hand.

Hon. Caleb Powers, OF KNOX COUNTY.

NEWSPAPER COMMENTS CONCERNING THE CANDIDACY OF HON. CALEB POWERS AND HIS PUBLIC CAREER IN POLITICS.

Syracuse New York Herald

Caleb Powers, who was in prison for eight years, charged with complicity of the murder of Senator Goebel, has "shown that he can come back and with a vengeance."

The Times, St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. Powers is regarded by his neighbors and friends as a man of integrity and ability, who has been a victim of a political conspiracy from which he had great trouble in escaping. He might have felt the hangman's noose, but is now on the road to Congress.

Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia

That Caleb Powers was the subject of willful prosecution is believed by the many who has followed the details in his case.

Evening Star, Washington, D. C.

Caleb Powers is a fine orator and a good speaker, and should make a useful member of the house.

Public Ledger, Philadelphia

Caleb Powers has chosen a favorable moment to ask a vindication. The frenzy of the Goebel partisans for a vicarious sacrifice centered upon him. The Goebel trouble divided father and son, and for many years diverted the courts of justice in channels of politics, hate and revenge.

The Dispatch News Parkersburg W. V.

When Caleb Powers reaches Washington as a Congressman, a Republican majority should pay him such distinguished consideration by Committee assignments and otherwise, as will forever relieve him of the stigma which has been so unjustly attempted to be fastened upon him.

Philadelphia Inquirer

The Eleventh District has been represented for three terms, by D. C. Edwards, but he has fallen at the primary before the redoubtable Caleb Powers. This is a peculiar event. Powers sought a vindication, and has secured it in a nomination for Congress. Doubtless he will make a good Congressman.

New York Sun

The success of Caleb Powers in the recent primary in the Eleventh Congressional district of Kentucky is for all surprising. He was a promising politician when he was elected Secretary of State in 1899. The trial of Powers, convinced impartial minds that he was a victim of political persecution. After his release he was still an object of hatred and malediction. It was quite natural that he should crave a "larger vindication" of popular suffrage and noble service with all his self-restraint.

and strength of character, Caleb Powers is vindicated.

Decatur, Illinois Herald

Powers is a man of intelligence and ability, who has won admiration for his courageous fight against terrible odds.

Morning Express, Buffalo, N. Y.

The people of the mountains of eastern Kentucky were always steadfast in their sympathy for Caleb Powers. Now, they have given further proof of their belief in him by nominating him for Congress in the Eleventh District in place of Representative D. C. Edwards.

Intelligencer, Wheeling, W. Va.

If the career of Caleb Powers could be put in a romance, it would rival in thrilling interest the most powerful tales of fiction. Here is a man born in poverty, who educated himself, gaining party leadership and winning the election to one of the highest offices in the State. He was a leading actor in a terrible political tragedy. Eight years he fought for his life against a combination of vicious politicians who controlled the courts, fixed the juries, and exercised all of the power of the government of a great State, to convict and punish him. To-day he stands as the choice of his party and people for membership in the greatest legislative body in the world.

The Gazette, Trenton, N. J.

Caleb Powers defeated his rival by ten thousand votes, which shows what the people who know him best, think of him. The story of Caleb Powers is full of dramatic interest, and should be elected to a seat in Washington, he will be one of the men to be pointed out to strangers.

Ledger, Tacoma, Wash

Most men would long ago have given up the struggle and retired to private life.

The Times, Los Angeles, Cal

Just what a man can accomplish in this world is shown by the record of Caleb Powers.

The Call, Allenton, Pa

Caleb Powers has had a remarkable career, one that will doubtless make him a man of mark in Washington. He is said to possess real ability of high order.

The Journal, Detroit, Mich

A man with Caleb Powers' career, a man who in his little cell has so held the attention of the Nation and commanded the head of high and distinguished Courts, may well be expected to make an impression on Congress.

The News, Providence, R I

Powers has now received from the people who know him best a complete vindication.

The Tribune, Caldwell, Idaho

The worst enemies to hear the news that the Republicans of the Eleventh District of Kentucky have nominated Caleb Powers for Congress.

The Journal, Jamestown, N. Y.

Not fully satisfied with having spent eight years in jail, Caleb Powers is trying to break into Congress. We hope he may succeed.

The Free Press, Milwaukee, Wis.

As a martyr to justice, Caleb Powers made his sacrifice for nomination but is said to possess real ability.

The Statesman, Austin, Texas

will be the most noted figure in the next Congress. He is said to have real ability of the highest order.

The Mail, Charleston, W. Va.

Powers is a brilliant man, and we believe him yet destined for great achievements.

News Dayton Ohio

Caleb Powers is an exceptionally intelligent young man. He is already well known as a chautauqua platform speaker. He is a clean debater, a ready thinker and has ardent courage, so he may come rapidly to the front in Congress.

The Republican, Springfield, Mo.

It is evident that Caleb Powers is not only innocent with any connection with the killing of Goebel, but that he is worthy and well qualified to represent the Eleventh District in the law making branch of the National government.

Post Dispatch St. Louis Mo

In the mountains of Kentucky dwell men with iron in their blood. These men indeed. They have nominated and will elect Caleb Powers as their next Representative.

HERALD, SOMERSET, KY.

With the proper effort the Republicans ought to gain one or two Congressmen in Kentucky this year. Every Republican voter in the Eleventh district ought to do his best. A vote to elect a Republican is a vote to carry out the policies of Taft and Roosevelt.

COMMERCIAL, HANGOR, ME.

Caleb Powers, has come back in earnest, and in a run away race, has been nominated for Congress in the Eleventh Kentucky district.

THE EVENING STAR,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Caleb Powers of Kentucky has had an eventful career, and has no hesitation about mingling in scenes, such as those the next Congress is likely to witness.

TIMES, LEAVENWORTH, KAN.

Caleb Powers may rightfully regard his nomination to Congress from the Eleventh Kentucky district by the handsome majority of 10,000 as a vindication. There are few, even among those who most bitterly assailed Powers who honestly believed he had any share in the killing of Goebel.

THE PATUOCH SUN,

PADUCAH, KY.

Caleb Powers is possessed of many charms and graces of person. He has a voice and manner that is artlessly engaging, with an adroit and well trained mind. He is high strung, self represented and qualified for leadership.

The Patriot, Harrisburg, Pa.

It is certain that Caleb Powers was not at Frankfort when Goebel was killed. It is also certain that much of the evidence given against him on his various trials was rank perjury. Most of the best people of the State believed him innocent and stood by him.

London Sentinel, London, Ky.

The New Era, an independent paper, edited by a Democrat, and published at Albany, Ky., the home town of Senator Bertram, says that it will support Caleb Powers for Congress. Comment is unnecessary.

The Republican, Somerset, Ky.

We wonder if Senator Bertram, in his speech-making tour over the Eleventh District, will preach as he has been preaching for the last ten years, that Caleb Powers is a guilty murderer, the mountain people, red-handed assassins, and the Republican party, steeped in human gore.

NEWS, TOMPKINSVILLE, KY.

At the Somerset convention, when Sen. Eliza Bertram was nominated to oppose Caleb Powers, Ollie James, the big Democratic Congressman from the First district, and many other Democrats made speeches in which they bitterly assailed Caleb Powers and the Republican party, denouncing Gov. Willson for pardoning Powers, and branding us all as cut throats and murderers and indorsers of assassination. Bertram was present, heard all that was said; indorsed it; and yet he has the effrontery to ask the Congress and send him to Congress and desert Caleb Powers, who spent 8 of the best years of his life in defending its good name. He must think we're crazy.

Ten Doctors Said He Would Die

"In 1903 we wrote you regarding my husband, who was suffering from heart trouble. He was superannuated by the North Georgian Conference. Ten doctors at different times said he would die. You advised Dr. Miles' Heart-Remedy and Restorative Nervine; we did as advised, and improvement was apparent from the very first. He recovered and the Conference in 1904 gave him a charge. He never felt better, although he was very heavy work and does a great deal of camp meeting work. You are the same Bertram, who for years proclaimed Caleb Powers guilty of Goebel's murder, and the Republican party, a party of assassins. Have you changed your mind, if so, when and why?

Mrs. J. M. Riddell returned last Tuesday from a week's pleasant visit to Knoxville where she attended the Exposition.

S. H. Hale, of Murphy, N. C., was in town this week on business and visited his daughter, Mrs. Lynn Golden and family.

Judge L. H. Ballard has returned to his home here after an absence of several weeks, visiting relatives and friends in the blue grass part of the State.

Wm. Jones returned last Friday night from a stay of some weeks in St. Petersburg, Florida, where he has been engaged as a contractor and builder.

Judge Wm. Lewis, of London, formerly a Judge of the Knox Circuit Court, was a visitor in this city last Thursday, returning home Thursday night.

You should be just as particular in the selection of your shoes as you are in choosing your gowns. See the "Queen Quality" shoes at Herndon & Tinsley's.

Capt. Jackson Morris, private secretary to Gov. Wilson, was in town Wednesday for a few hours and met and conversed with some of his many friends here.

Miss Mary Price returned to her home in Mt. Vernon the first of the week. She was accompanied by Miss Belle Main who will be her guest for a few days.

FOR SALE—Corner lot on River Street, 75x110 ft., opposite Presbyterian Church. One of the prettiest building sites in the city. Will sell worth the money. Apply to J. M. Tinsley.

Rev. A. B. Stickley, of West Virginia, will preach at the Christian church Sunday morning and evening. Everybody is invited and the membership is especially urged to be present.

LaBelle Lodge No. 59 I. O. O. F. was represented at the State Grand Lodge meeting, in Lexington, this week by J. L. Runyon, Dr. J. W. Parker, Charles Davis, L. M. Cole and W. H. McDonald.

Miss Mary Ballinger is reported quite ill and grave fears are entertained for her recovery. She was operated on last Saturday by her uncle, Dr. Amis, of Oklahoma, who came here for that purpose.

J. R. Jones, wife and daughter, Nannie, Misses Dona Price, Lena and Elsie Wilson, L. H. Jarvis and perhaps others left here last Thursday to attend the great Exposition at Knoxville and to hear Roosevelt speak on Friday.

W. B. McDonald, Charles Davis and D. W. Clark were all in attendance at the meeting of Mianitomo Tribe No. 1, in Lexington, last Friday night, at which time the chief's degree was put on by the Great Chiefs of the reservation of Kentucky.

LOCAL LOOM REVIEWS.

The brick work on the new business house adjoining the post office is progressing nicely and with favorable weather will soon be ready for the roof.

Herndon and Tinsley have a fine display of apples in their show window which D. H. Williams brought back from his trip to the state of Washington. They are indeed beauties and show that the great Northwest is indeed adopted to the growth of apples.

Fine Broom Corn

The Advocate man received this week a fine sample of broom corn seed from Mr. Mat Baker, of Flat Lick, for which we extend thanks.

This is a new variety of broom corn known as the Oklahoma Dwarf and is a very fine specimen. It is different from the old fashioned variety in that it does not have to be broken down but is provided by nature with a sort of shuck which holds the straw and head erect, thus insuring straight straw at all times.

Mr. Baker has six acres this year of this fine variety.

PINEAPPLE JUICE.

Pineapples are being exported from Hawaii in great quantities. The juice of the fruit is now being put up in bottles and shipped all over the world. It makes a delicious beverage.

Not Anxious to Meet Him.

"Jinks has had a burglar alarm put in his house, with a gong in every room."

"He wants to be sure to know about the burglars?"

"No; he wants the burglar to be sure to be alarmed."

This contractor got results.

Some years ago a contractor building a railroad in a warm climate was troubled a great deal by sickness among the laborers.

He turned his attention at once to their food and found that they were getting full rations of meat and were drinking water from a stream near by. He issued orders to cut down the amount of meat and to increase greatly the quantity of Quaker Oats fed to the men.

He also boiled Quaker Oats and mixed the thin oatmeal water with their drinking water. Almost instantly all signs of stomach disorders ceased, and his men showed a decided improvement in strength and spirits. This contractor had experienced that taught him the great value of good oatmeal.

The cost was small; 10c for regular size packages; it is also packed in hermetically sealed tins for hot climates.

FACTS ABOUT GALICIA.

Galicia is a country as large as Scotland, with a population one-third greater. There are 6,000,000 inhabitants, of whom perhaps rather more than half are Poles and rather less than half Ruthenians. In the western half of Galicia the Poles and in the eastern half the Ruthenians are the more numerous. The country is formed by the northern slopes of the Carpathian mountains and by the plains of the basins of the upper waters of the Dniester, the Bug and the Vistula. It is that part of the fringe of the plains of Poland and Russia that political events in the past, among which the partition of Poland was the most important, gave to Austria.

IT CAN NEVER BE.

Equality of rank there can never be; equality of wealth there can never be; equality of intellect there can never be; equality of influence there can never be. Such is the ordinance of God's providence. In the will of man, as in the world of nature, there must always be the mole-hills as well as the mountains, and the thistles as well as the forest trees. But equality of hopes, equality of aims, equality of essential happiness, equality of pure and true thoughts, there may be; and equality of common destiny there is.

THE GIRLS.

"That bigamist must have been a wonder. He seems to have married every girl he wanted to."

"Huh! I'd like to see him marry me!"

"I suppose you would, dear, but it wouldn't be legal, you know."

YOUNG CAMELS IN DEMAND.
